EVENT SITUATION

You are to assume the role of general manager at JOHNSON FAMILY ELITE, a local automobile dealership that sells both new and previously-owned ELITE vehicles. The owner of the local dealership (judge) is considering a change to the days the business is open and would like you to analyze the benefits and consequences of the change and make a final decision.

Like in most cities, there is an antiquated law that does not allow JOHNSON FAMILY ELITE, or any other car dealership, to be open on both Saturdays and Sundays. The law was first written over a century ago when the majority of businesses were closed on Sunday. Since that time, social culture and business has changed, with most businesses keeping Sunday hours of operation. Dealerships must choose to be open on either Saturday or Sunday. Most automobile dealerships have chosen to keep Saturdays as a business day and close on Sunday to follow the law.

The owner of JOHNSON FAMILY ELITE (judge) is considering changing the weekend business day. Instead of being open for business on Saturday, like all other dealerships in the area, JOHNSON FAMILY ELITE would be open on Sunday instead. This would make JOHNSON FAMILY ELITE the only car dealership open for business on Sundays in a 750-mile radius.

The owner (judge) feels that being open on Sunday would give the dealership a competitive edge, but worries that with many parts suppliers, inspection offices, third-party financers and the ELITE manufacturer support being closed on Sunday, it could marginalize the level of service provided.

The owner (judge) wants you to analyze the benefits and possible consequences of being open on Sundays rather than Saturdays and make a final decision. The owner (judge) wants to hear of all potential risks and advantages of the change regarding sales, customers, other dealerships and employees.

You will present your analysis and recommendation to the owner (judge) in a role-play to take place in the owner’s (judge’s) office. The owner (judge) will begin the role-play by greeting you and asking to hear your ideas. After you have presented your recommendation and have answered the owner’s (judge’s) questions, the owner (judge) will conclude the role-play by thanking you for your work.

JUDGE ROLE-PLAY CHARACTERIZATION

You feel that being open on Sunday would give the dealership a competitive edge, but worry that with many parts suppliers, inspection offices, third-party financers and the ELITE manufacturer support being closed on Sunday, it could marginalize the level of service provided.
You want the general manager (participant) to analyze the benefits and possible consequences of being open on Sundays rather than Saturdays and make a final decision. You want to hear of all potential risks and advantages of the change regarding sales, customers, other dealerships and employees.

The participant will present ideas to you in a role-play to take place in your office. You will begin the role-play by greeting the participant and asking to hear about his/her ideas.

During the course of the role-play you are to ask the following questions of each participant:

1. If we were to be open on Sundays rather than Saturdays, how should we communicate the change to the public?

2. What is the best way to get feedback from our employees and customers prior to making a decision?

3. Are there any alternative operation hours that would give the dealership an advantage over our competitors?

Once the general manager (participant) has presented an analysis and has answered your questions, you will conclude the role-play by thanking the general manager (participant) for the work.

You are not to make any comments after the event is over except to thank the participant.
