EVENT SITUATION

You are to assume the role of director of customer service for INFOBOX, a file hosting service that offers cloud storage, file synchronization and client software. The senior vice president (judge) has asked you to determine how to best remedy the company's growing customer service needs.

INFOBOX operates business on its website, allowing users to upload content for storage and sharing. Users can access their content on any device and share it with co-workers and friends for viewing or for editing. INFOBOX offers 2 gigabytes of free storage space, but charges users for additional storage space and additional features. INFOBOX has a variety of business and non-business customers.

INFOBOX has a toll-free number available for customer service needs. Oftentimes, customers simply need to troubleshoot a problem or, need help recovering a password or finding a document within their account. Most customer service phone calls are handled quickly and do not require further investigating by the customer service representative.

Even with the simple nature of the customer service phone calls, there are still long wait times for customers to speak to an INFOBOX representative. Customers have complained that they wait longer to speak to a representative than the time it takes for the representative to fix the problem. Another complaint is that the customer service department is only available 8:00AM – 7:00PM ET, which means customers with problems occurring before or after those hours must wait for assistance.

The senior vice president (judge) understands the concerns with the limited availability of customer service representatives and the long hold times. The senior vice president (judge) feels there are two possible solutions to the problem. First, the company could hire more customer service representatives and extend the hours. Second, the company could spend $10,000 and have a chatbot built. The chatbot would be available 24/7 to resolve simple problems.

The senior vice president (judge) would like you to analyze both options and determine which is the best for INFOBOX and its customers, and both the short-term and long-term future of the customer service department.

You will present the analysis and recommendation to the senior vice president (judge) in a role-play to take place in the senior vice president's (judge's) office. The senior vice president (judge) will begin the role-play by greeting you and asking to hear your ideas. After you have presented the analysis and have answered the senior vice president's (judge's) questions, the senior vice president (judge) will conclude the role-play by thanking you for your work.

JUDGE ROLE-PLAY CHARACTERIZATION

You are to assume the role of senior vice president for INFOBOX, a file hosting service that offers cloud storage, file synchronization and client software. You have asked the director of customer service (participant) to determine how to best remedy the company's growing customer service needs.

INFOBOX operates business on its website, allowing users to upload content for storage and sharing. Users can access their content on any device and share it with co-workers and friends for viewing or for editing. INFOBOX offers 2 gigabytes of free storage space, but charges users for additional storage space and additional features. INFOBOX has a variety of business and non-business customers.

The chatbot would be available 24/7 to resolve simple problems.

You would like the director of customer service (participant) to analyze both options and determine which is the best for INFOBOX and its customers, and both the short-term and long-term future of the customer service department.

The participant will present the analysis and recommendation to you in a role-play to take place in your office. You will begin the role-play by greeting the participant and asking to hear about his/her ideas.

During the course of the role-play, you are to ask the following questions of each participant:

1. Does the fact that we are an online service company have any impact on how our customers prefer us to respond to their concerns?
2. How will this change affect our productivity?
3. How do we communicate your recommended solution to our customers?

Once the director of customer service (participant) has presented the analysis and has answered your questions, you will conclude the role-play by thanking the director of customer service (participant) for the work.

You are not to make any comments after the event is over except to thank the participant.
