CASE STUDY SITUATION

You are the director of marketing for OAKWOOD MALL, a large traditional shopping mall with close to 300 retailers. The mall was built in the 1970s and was once the largest mall in the nation. The mall is still one of the largest, but the number of shoppers has declined since its height of popularity in the 1980s.

Retailers across the nation have seen a decline in sales over the last several years. Physical store locations have seen fewer shoppers as online sales have increased. With expedited free shipping and no-hassle returns, it is much easier and more convenient now for shoppers to buy online rather than visit physical stores.

Black Friday is typically the one shopping day each year that store locations demonstrate above-average sales. Retailers offer specialty in-store promotions to entice shoppers to physical store locations with the hope that once inside, shoppers will make additional purchases.

OAKWOOD MALL decorates public areas with holiday decorations in anticipation of Black Friday. An area in front of one of the anchor stores is the designated Santa House, which has a Santa on-duty during business hours to greet young children and pose for photographs. The mall also has a grand piano near the food court with a pianist playing traditional holiday music. In addition, most retailers also add their own holiday décor.

Black Friday 2017 was the weakest turnout for OAKWOOD MALL in the mall's history. Retailers were not happy with sales or the amount of foot traffic in stores. Additionally, many salespeople had their shifts cut after the morning rush of shoppers. The mall did see a significant number of shoppers at 8:00AM when many stores offered early promotions, but by 11:00AM mall traffic was no more significant than a regular Friday at 11:00AM.

YOUR CHALLENGE

The general manager of OAKWOOD MALL is concerned about the decline in Black Friday shoppers at the mall. The general manager is worried that retailers may not want to renew leases if low foot traffic on Black Friday becomes a trend. The general manager has asked you to plan special events for Black Friday 2018 that will bring more shoppers into OAKWOOD MALL throughout the day. The special events and services should not be affiliated with mall retailers, but instead provided by OAKWOOD MALL as public relations activities.

The general manager wants you to determine:

- Special events that will occur throughout the day on Black Friday 2018
- Services to provide customers with
- How the special events will impact buying behavior
- Methods to communicate the special events to shoppers

You will present your Black Friday 2018 ideas to the general manager in a meeting to take place in the general manager's office. The general manager may be accompanied by additional executives from the mall.
