

FIDM ENTREPRENEUR OF TOMORROW CHALLENGE

FIDM ENTREPRENEUR OF TOMORROW CHALLENGE
Sponsored by The Fashion Institute of Design & Merchandise

The Fashion Institute of Design & Merchandising (FIDM) Challenge provides an opportunity for participants to present an entrepreneurial proposal for a new product idea for a specific market segment. They will pitch the new clothing, beauty, home, health, food or entertainment concept in a four minute YouTube presentation that will describe: the target market, the product offering with relevant benefits, the market potential with pricing and distribution plan, as well as a marketing launch strategy with collateral.

CHALLENGE OVERVIEW

- This event consists of one major part: the video presentation.
- Each event entry will be composed of one to three members of a DECA chapter. Chapters may submit multiple entries for consideration.
- The participants will research the marketplace and then propose an entrepreneurial product to bring to market. They should explain why, based on this research, they believe in this product and its market potential.
- The participants may spend no more than $25.00 to create a prototype and/or on the development of a marketing and distribution strategy.
- The participants will then pitch this new product idea based on a specific target market segment and create the promotion, pricing and distribution strategies to bring it to market.
- The participants will then present their findings to FIDM executives and instructors in a video that is a maximum of four minutes in length posted on YouTube. (See Presentation Guidelines.)
- Videos over four minutes in length will not be evaluated and will not be eligible for awards.
- The participants must fully complete and submit the online registration form at www.deca.org/challenges no later than February 7, 2021 to be eligible for awards. Late entries and entries over four minutes will not be accepted.
- FIDM will evaluate all submitted video presentations and select the top three overall teams. From the final three videos, an overall winning team will be selected.
- DECA Inc. and FIDM are not responsible for lost, damaged, mislabeled or misdirected entries.

KNOWLEDGE AND SKILLS DEVELOPED

Participants will demonstrate knowledge and skills needed to address the components of the project as described in the content outline and evaluation forms.

Participants will also develop many 21st Century Skills, in the following categories, desired by today's employers:

- Communication and Collaboration
- Creativity and Innovation
- Critical Thinking and Problem Solving
- Initiative and Self-direction
- Media Literacy

PRESENTATION GUIDELINES

The participants will present their findings to FIDM executives and instructors in a video that is a maximum of four minutes in length and posted to YouTube.

All videos must include the following components:

I. Product Idea/Benefit Overview

- a. Description of new product idea.
- b. Justification why this is good opportunity for success. Show reasoning by citing research resources within the video that prove need, demand, any void in the marketplace and related current market and cultural trends.
 - i. Example: Tween starter-kit for cooking/baking or a teen beauty line specifically geared towards males.
- c. Visual representation of the product.
- d. Explanation of product strategy by describing and differentiating the product features and benefits that create competitive advantage.

II. Target Customer/Market Segment

- a. Primary Target Customer
 - i. Demographics: age, gender, race, income range, education and/or occupation.
 - ii. Psychographics: personality traits such as values, interests and information such as leisure activities and hobbies.
 - iii. Picture or collage of target customer.
 - iv. Motivation of target customer.
 - v. Frequency of product use.
- b. Market Segment
 - i. Potential size of the market segment. Will it be sufficient to be profitable?
 - ii. Competitive market for products that directly compete with your idea as well as other product categories that you may be competing against.

III. Marketing Plan: Pricing, Distribution and Promotion

- a. Pricing: Explain your price for this new product and the strategy behind this decision, keeping the brand image (luxury, mainstream, basic) and your target customer in mind.
- b. Distribution: Explain how and where you will sell and distribute your product, consistent again with the customer perception of the product, product image and price strategy.
- c. Promotion: Create a compelling message strategy and basic brand identity for your product launch and describe the specific media tools you will use to get the word out. Your plan should cover communication choices that would appeal to your target market and help drive awareness and purchase.
- d. Create an advertisement or a piece of relevant promotional collateral such as a Facebook page, website, customer newsletter, direct mail postcard, etc. with relevant copy and graphics. Then complete a simple media plan for your product launch.

IV. Video Presentation

- Present as if speaking to potential investors. Sell the benefits of the product.
- Focus on key points to stay within four minute guidelines.
- Be visually creative when presenting ideas.
- Overall creative, including art direction, style, tone and sound should reflect the product category and be relevant to your target customer's lifestyle. Animation, sound track and/or any special effects may be used to enhance your overall video presentation.
- Consistent volume with audible voices.
